Reduce and Prevent Crime and Disorder

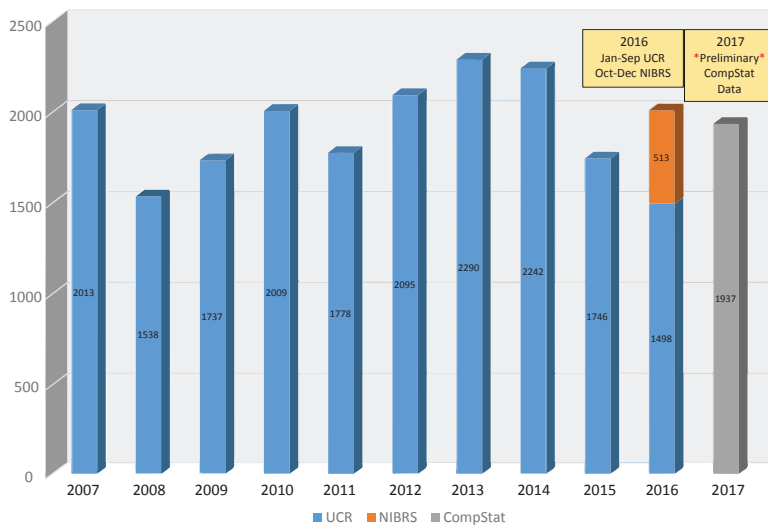

Public safety is a community responsibility. Neighbors, parents, youth, business owners, city employees, school employees, prosecutors and judges, as well as other local, state and federal law enforcement and social service agencies, all must work together to reduce crime and disorder in Spokane. As a police agency SPD may take the lead in many circumstances, but it will be collaboration and partnerships with other organizations and groups that help determine the level of SPD's success.

Oct 4, 2016 to Dec 2017 Calls for Service by Call Source

Year	Total Calls for Service	9-1-1	Crime Check	Self-Initiated	Other
2016 (Oct 4 to Dec 31)	52,765	24,362	18,192	9,812	399
2017	248,664	110,595	87,512	47,073	3,484

Community Outreach

Strong relationships of mutual trust between police agencies and the communities they serve are crucial to maintaining public safety and effective policing. Police departments are dependent on the support of community members to provide information about crime in their neighborhoods. Similarly, community members' willingness to trust the police depends on whether they believe that police actions incorporate the principles of procedural justice and legitimacy. Integral to successfully reducing crime and disorder, SPD continues to build collaborative partnerships with members of its community.
