Allegation: Inadequate Response, Demeanor and Biased Policing

Final Discipline: Not Applicable

INCIDENT SYNOPSIS:

An SPD officer responded to a call about a woman drunk driving and fighting with her ex-boyfriend. The officer contacted the caller who reported the drunk driving and assault. The officer later contacted the female alleged to have been involved in the incident, who denied any physical altercation. No arrests were made.

COMPLAINT:

The complainant alleged the officer failed to adequately address his concerns because he did not arrest the woman, and that the officer did so because he knew the complainant from previous calls.

INVESTIGATION:

The investigator reviewed reports, CAD records, the officer's body worn camera footage, radio traffic, and a recorded interview with the complainant.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION:

The investigation concluded that the officer conducted an adequate investigation, and there was not sufficient probable cause to arrest anyone. The officer did know the complainant from previous calls, and the parties openly discussed that prior contact during the subject call. There were no objective facts or circumstances that indicated the officer treated the complainant poorly due to their previous encounters. The officer's demeanor was courteous and professional.
