Incident Summary

The Targeted Crimes Unit was conducting followup on a suspect in a string of recent robberies where the suspect (Joseph Layman) was believed to be armed during the commission of those robberies. Det Tofsrud (plain clothes) located Layman outside 1630 W. Pacific and attempted to take him into custody (other officers were in the vicinity and monitoring each others' radio frequency). Ofc Tofsrud believed his undercover status had been compromised and initiated contact while waiting for his backup to arrive (Sgt Preuninger, Det Harden, Ofc C Johnson, and Ofc S Lesser). Ofc Tofsrud had his department issued handgun out at the low-ready position and was wearing a department issued badge on his belt near his holster.

Layman began backing away from Det Tofsrud and refused verbal commands from Det Tofsrud. As Det Tofsrud closed distance on Layman, Layman attempted to punch Det Tofsrud twice (neither punch made contact). Layman then ran towards 1630 W. Pacific #2. Det Tofsrud caught up with Layman but noticed several unknown subjects in the apartment Layman was entering. He waited for backup to arrive.

Det Tofsrud was joined at the front of the apartment by Sgt Preuninger (Det Harden secured the rear of the apartment house) and reinitiated contact with the occupants of the apartment. There were 6 to 10 individuals in the apartment; Layman was seen through the front window reaching into a backpack. The officers decided to make entry for the following reasons:

- *Layman was seen in the apartment
- *Layman had attempted to assault an officer
- *Layman refused to comply with officers' direction
- *PC existed to arrest Layman for armed robbery
- *Layman was known to be armed during one of the robberies and it was believed he may still likely be armed
- *Layman was digging through a backpack while officers were giving him commands; the contents of the backpack were not known
- *The connection to 1630 W. Pacific was unknown and the status of others in the apartment was unknown (e.g. was Layman an unwelcome intruder)
- *Officers were in "fresh pursuit" of Layman, who had just committed another felony (in addition to the robbery charges) by attempting to assault an officer

Det Tofsrud and Sgt Preuninger both gave repeated verbal commands to Layman, which he ignored. They also identified themselves as police. As they attempted to place Layman in handcuffs by grabbing his arms (because of his refusal to follow directions), he pulled away from them. Det Tofsrud then attempted a foot sweep takedown which resulted in all 3 tumbling onto a bed. As they continued to struggle to control Layman, Det Tofsrud immobilized Layman's head with his arm and used his body weight to attempt to control Layman's movements. Layman tried to pull Det Tofsrud's arm away from him. It was at this point that Det Tofsrud noted a pistol laying on the floor in the vicinity of where they were attempting to take Layman into custody; there were also several knives clearly visible during the struggle.

At this point a second male who had secreted himself under the bed appeared; surprising both officers. They directed him to leave. This unknown male left the room into the unsecured apartment. Layman continued to fight with officers and repeatedly tried to reach into his waistband, secreting his hands under his body, and tensing his body so handcuffs could not be applied. Det Tofsrud applied a neck restraint to Layman, which resulted in Layman becoming docile for 1 to 2 seconds. As soon as Det Tofsrud released pressure on the neck restraint, Layman began struggling again (attempting to pull Det Tofsrud's arm away from him, secreting his arms and hands under him so he could not be handcuffed, etc.).

Sgt Preuninger noted that neither officer was able to gain control of Layman and Layman's hands continuously broke loose of their grasp (and Layman repeatedly reached towards the front pocket of his pants). Sgt Preuninger indicated he was afraid Layman would access a weapon to use against them (Layman had not been searched and was known to be armed during at least one robbery, knives were strewn on the floor of the room they were struggling in, etc). He delivered one closed hand strike to Layman's torso. This caused Layman to pause briefly, but he quickly resumed his fighting.

Sgt Preuninger noted his backup pistol had dislodged from its holster and was laying on the floor in close proximity to Layman. Sgt Preuninger then struck Layman 3 to 5 times in the torso in an effort to gain compliance from Layman and cause him to stop resisting.

Ofc Johnson arrived while Det Tofsrud and Sgt Preuninger were still wrestling with Layman. He indicated that he delivered 4 to 6 knee strikes to the right side of Layman's torso.

After a struggle involving direct participation by 3 strong, well-trained officers, Layman was finally detained in handcuffs. During a search incident to his arrest, a 4" knife was located in his front pants pocket (the pocket he had been continuously reaching for). A suicide note was also located in one of his pockets.

Ofc S Lesser, who arrived as officers were struggling with Layman, removed knives and a hammer from the vicinity of Layman as the struggle ensued. Both Ofc Johnson and Ofc Lesser clearly heard Det Tofsrud and Sgt Preuninger giving verbal commands to Layman.

Ofc Lesser interviewed several individuals who witnessed the arrest. One reported, "The officers told him several times he was under arrest and to stop but he just wouldn't listen. He was flailing his arms and legs and fighting officers. He was resisting and wouldn't stop.... He literally was fighting back; resisting to the 10th degree. Not even the kids in the group homes resist like that. I have never seen someone resist like that. It was very obvious he was under arrest; it was like the first thing police said inside."

A second witness indicated, "He (Layman) was tripping and freaking out. He has done too much of some kind of drug....The cops were just trying to restrain him. It was obvious it was the police....He fought with the police for what seemed like forever."

Det Tofsrud then applied a second application of the neck restraint, which appeared to result in Layman ceasing his struggling for another 1 to 2 seconds.

Layman was transported to the hospital to ensure his medical condition and subsequently booked on charges related to the robbery.

Officers were attempting to arrest a violent felon; officers had PC to arrest the suspect for armed robbery. The suspect refused numerous verbal commands and made repeated attempts to evade and resist arrest. The tactics utilized by officers to take the suspect into custody were within policy.

In compliance with policy per Assistant Chief Smith 01.23.15.

Detective L.Tofsrud # 296

On October 21st, 2014 I was advised by detective Corey Turman that he was investigating a series of robberies occurring in the Spokane Washington area. Detective Turman later advised that he had established probable cause to arrest defendant Joseph Layman for First Degree Robbery.

I also reviewed documents prepared by Detective Turman outlining the probable cause to charge defendant Layman. Layman was described as a black male born in 1985, 5'8" to 6 ft. tall, and weighing between 160 and 190 pounds. Layman was reportedly riding a 10 speed bicycle. The bicycle was unique in description as it was multicolored. I was also made aware of a number of clothing items that the Layman had been wearing.

On October 22, 2014 I utilized a newly cultivated confidential informant. The CI had not been qualified yet, he/she was monetarily compensated. The name of the CI can be disclosed at the direction of the court. The CI had been in recent contact with Layman.

I developed information that Layman was in the area of Pacific and Oak in Browne's addition. Myself and other members of the targeted crimes unit set up surveillance in that area. I positioned my vehicle in the area of 1700 W. Pacific. Detective Wendt maintained control of the CI.

At approximately 1720 hrs. I made note of a black male that I positively identified as being Layman. Layman was standing on the north curb line of West Pacific. Layman was wearing a striped beanie style cap similar to the one described by detective Turman. Layman was also texting from his cellular phone and also appeared to be making a phone call. At the same time I was making these observations detective Wendt indicated that Layman was making contact with the CI.

I was sitting in my vehicle while I observed Layman. Layman was looking directly at me and appeared to be nervous. Being concerned that my safety had been compromised by Layman seeing me I decided to exit my vehicle. I unholstered my pistol and kept it at a low ready position. I immediately began giving verbal commands to Layman. I identified myself as a police officer, I also had a police badge on my belt near my holster. I ordered Layman to turn away from me. I also ordered Layman to show me his hands and to not run. I closed body space with Layman. As I did this Layman began walking backwards. I continued to give verbal commands to Layman. Layman increased his pace as I approached him. I was having difficulty holstering my pistol. As I reached out to grab Layman he swung his right fist at me in a jabbing motion. Layman did this twice Layman's fist did not connect. Layman then turned and ran away from me.

I pursued Layman southbound across street (Pacific) and then westbound. I caught up to Layman just as he opened the door to 1630 W. Pacific #2. I could see from the porch that there were several people inside the residence. I also left my vehicle unsecured. I was also concerned that my backup officers had not responded yet.

I retrieved my vehicle and parked in the front yard of the address. I was then assisted by Sgt. Prueninger and Detective Harden. Detective Harden covered the rear of the residence while myself and Sgt. Prueninger attempted to make contact at the front door. The door was opened by an unidentified white female. I could see defendant Layman standing inside the residence. I could also see that the residence was occupied by approximately 6 to 10 people. The residence was cluttered with laundry, several items of luggage, and furniture.

Both myself and Sgt. Prueninger began giving verbal directives to defendant Layman. Those directives were for Layman to turn away from us and put his hands in the air. We also identified ourselves as police officers. Defendant Layman was holding a backpack. Defendant Layman did not obey commands and appeared overly focused on the contents of the backpack. Defendant Layman appeared to be looking inside the backpack for something. Defendant Layman's focus would also vacillate, he would look at us and then look inside the backpack. Defendant Layman was holding the backpack with one hand and searching through it with the other. Defendant Layman began walking backwards away from us. It was clear the defendant Layman was not going to respond to our commands.

Sgt. Prueninger and I made the decision to enter the residence and take defendant Layman into custody. There were several factors that forced our decision. (Defendant Layman was not obeying lawful commands, defendant Layman had just run from me after making two failed attempts to strike me with his fist, defendant Layman was holding a backpack that could've contained a weapon, defendant Layman had been involved in a violent crime, more specifically a robbery wherein a firearm was used, defendant Layman was in the residence occupied by several people, there were several areas of the residence that had not been made safe by police, etc.)

Sgt. Prueninger and I ran toward defendant Layman. We continued to identify ourselves as police officers and order defendant Layman to get on the ground. Defendant Layman started to turn and run away from us. Defendant Layman maintained control of the backpack.

I grabbed Layman's right arm and attempted to establish control of him. Layman pulled us backward toward a closed door, while I employed a foot sweep. All three of us went through the door and landed on a bed. As we went through the door I attempted to gain control of Layman by placing his head and neck in the crook of my arm between my bicep and my fore arm. I was careful not to apply any pressure on Layman's neck or airway. My objective was to use my body weight to force/restrain Layman down onto the bed. My secondary objective was to have Layman in a position where I could employ a bilateral neck compression technique if he continued to fight. I was able to safely accomplish this.

Layman continued to struggle while I had my body weight on him. My chest was on Layman's head and my head was on Layman's right shoulder. Layman reached for my arm and was making attempts to pry it from my position. I continued to give Layman commands. I yelled at Layman and told him that I was going to put him out if he did not comply. Layman continued to make attempts to pry my arm away from his body.

I noticed that there was a short barreled pistol on the floor near where we were fighting with Layman. I also noticed that there were several knives in the room. At this time we were fully engaged with Layman, who was fighting violently, in an effort to take him into custody. A white male subject whom we had not identified presented himself from underneath the bed. I ordered the subject to leave the bedroom. He complied, however I did not see where he went. The rest of the residence remained unsecured. Layman continued to fight by refusing commands, reaching into his waistband, and secreting his hands and arms underneath him all the while keeping them flexed and rigid. If we were to disengage with Layman he would have had access to a number of weapons that were in his immediate reach.

I applied pressure to the side of Layman's neck using my bicep and my forearm. I was careful as to not apply any pressure to Layman's airway. Layman continued to struggle. Layman also continued to pry my arm away. Layman began yelling that he could not breathe. I knew that Layman could breathe because he was yelling, nonetheless I readjusted my hold on him. Layman still continued to fight. I reapplied pressure to the sides of Layman's neck. Layman stopped fighting for 1 to 2 seconds. I released my hold on him. Layman began fighting again and refusing commands. Layman made the same attempts to pry my arm away from him. Layman also continued to secrete his arms and hands underneath his body in the same manner as described before. I reapplied pressure to the side of Layman's neck and he stopped fighting again for 1 to 2 seconds. I released the pressure and Layman was taken into custody and handcuffed.

Layman was attended to by Sgt. Prueninger and patrol officers that had responded.

The fire department was summoned and they also tended to Layman. Layman was transported to the hospital. Layman was accompanied by detective Harden.

I enlisted the assistance of other police personnel to make the residence safe. We conducted a cursory search of the residence and had all of the occupants exit. The objective was to prepare the residence for the application for and execution of a search warrant. We accomplished this by only looking in areas where a human being could hide. This was the least most intrusive way to accomplish our objective while remaining safe.

I made note of several items inside the residence including edged weapons, drug paraphernalia, and syringes and needles possibly containing a controlled substance.

I also researched NCIC III and found that defendant Layman had been convicted of assault fourth degree domestic violence on December 11, 2008.

I completed a search warrant and affidavit for search warrant requesting extended liberties to search West 1630 Pacific #2, Spokane Washington. The documents were reviewed by Spokane County Superior Court Commissioner Anderson. Commissioner Anderson signed the documents allowing the search.

I enlisted the assistance of detective Wendt, Cpl. Adams, Sgt. Reisenauer to execute the search warrant. Refer to the property sheet additional along with receipt and return of service for further documentation. The residence was secured by locking the door upon her departure.

Information will be forwarded to detective Turman.

Detective

On October 21st, 2014 I was the sergeant assigned to the Spokane Police Department's TCU (Targeted Crimes Unit). On that date TCU was providing assistance to MCU (Major Crimes Unit) in locating and arresting Joseph G. Layman. Det. Turman of MCU had probable cause to arrest Layman for First Degree Robbery.

TCU Detective Tofsrud developed information that the suspect was located in Browne's addition near Pacific and Oak. TCU detectives positioned themselves in the area, both on foot and in vehicles and I had two Patrol Officers from the Department's Emergency Response Unit stand by in the area.

I took up a position to the west and had Detective Harden with me in my vehicle. Note, TCU is a semi-covert unit, the detectives are not in uniform or business attire but wear plain clothes appropriate to the weather and investigation they are working. At the time of this incident I was wearing police identification with two department issued badges, one on my lower right side displayed below my belt line in front of my firearm and a second badge worn around my neck.

Detective Tofsrud began to relay information that the suspect was in the area and could be out on the street. Detective Hardin and I observed a BM fitting the suspect description walk out from behind a small apartment complex and begin scanning the area as if he was looking for something. The male was wearing a hood so we could not completely identify him. He began to walk east on Pacific and stopped twice bending down and adjusting his position on the sidewalk as if he was looking into cars parked on the curb. I called Detective Tofsrud on the radio to ask if he could see the suspect and alert the other officers that we may have him in sight. We later discovered that at the same time I used my radio Detective Tofsrud was attempting to broadcast he had a positive ID on Suspect Layman at the front of his vehicle. Other Detectives and Officers only heard my radio traffic, (this issue is built into the communication system we currently use. Once a radio begins to broadcast it has the air and no other radio can interrupt the traffic.) Detective Hardin and I contacted the male we had observed and began to detain him, within seconds we realized he was not Layman and we also saw Detective Tofsrud engaging Layman a block to the east.

We moved to Detective Tofsrud's location, he advised the suspect had just fled into 1630 W. Pacific, Detective Hardin ran to the back to secure the residence, I went to the front door with Detective Tofsrud.

Detective Tofsrud advised he could see the suspect though the window and that he was reaching into a backpack. At this time we knew, and or were taking into consideration the following concerns.

1. The suspect was still in the apartment.
2. Had attempted to assault a police officer.
3. He had run from, and was refusing to comply with the police.
4. There was probable cause to arrest him for armed robbery.
5. He was armed with a handgun during at least one robbery.
6. We did not know what connection, if any, he had to 1630 W. Pacific and we had to consider he could be an intruder. In either case he may have posed a deadly threat to the occupants of the apartment.

I knocked on the door and announced "Police, open the door." Detective Tofsrud was telling me he could see multiple people inside the residence with the suspect. The door abruptly opened and two women (later identified, see Officers Lesser and C. Johnson's additional reports) frantically began to talk. One of the women said "I'm outa here" and tried to leave, the other female grabbed her and pulled her back into the apartment. Detective Tofsrud could still see the suspect frantically looking for something in a backpack and there were other people between him and us in the living room. At this time I told Detective Tofsrud we were entering the apartment, we moved past the women at the door, I told them to exit and get to safety.

Once in the apartment I could see Layman still reaching into the backpack, as he slowly backed up away from us in the kitchen. He was watching us the entire time with a panicked and frantic expression on his face. I was at draw and direct with my firearm and walking quickly toward Layman, ordering him to stop moving and put his hands up. He was not complying and I feared at any moment he was going to retrieve a gun or some other weapon from the backpack. As we closed space Detective Tofsrud still had his weapon out so I holstered mine and rushed Layman grabbing his arms and attempting to keep him from drawing a weapon. Detective Tofsrud had also moved in taking control of Layman. This caused him to drop the backpack however we all stumbled across the kitchen and into a bedroom at the north end of the apartment.

As the three of us fell into the bedroom I could see a large hunting style knife (unsheathed) and a hammer lying on the bed. We landed on the knife and hammer, I told Detective Tofsrud what we were on and we continued to tell Layman to relax and stop fighting. I had partial control of Layman's right arm and was trying to get his left arm however each time I attempted this his right arm would get free and he would reach for his right front pants pocket. He was wearing jeans with large front pockets which could easily be accessed. As we struggled I got brief glimpses of the room we were in. It was small, (just a few feet to any wall from the bed) and littered with furniture, junk, clothes, and other items. On the corner of the bed next to us I could see at least 10 syringes in a pile.

Even with Detective Tofsrud and I both trying to control Layman he was able to get his hands free. The struggle continued and I was in fear that Layman would access a weapon, either from the bed or possibly one secreted on his person. At this time I struck Layman in the torso with a closed fist strike, this caused him to pause his struggle for a moment although it was not long enough for us to get control of him and he quickly began to struggle again.

An unidentified white male then jumped up from the other side of the bed, (we were struggling on the edge closest to the door). He had been hiding on the floor under the window. I ordered him to stay back, he ran past us brushing me as he went by and out of the room. This distraction caused me to lose even more control of Layman who got his hand into his pants pocket, I trapped it there.

Within seconds of the unknown male popping up patrol officers entered the room which was so small and cluttered only one of them could effectively assist us in getting control of Layman. At this moment I saw a small stainless revolver lying on the floor, next to the bed on some clothes. I realized it was my back-up weapon a 2" .38, which had fallen out onto the ground. Layman was still struggling violently and digging at his right front pocket and try to free himself from Detective Tofsrud. I struck him again three to five times in the torso and about that time, in concert with the efforts of the other officers we were able to get him handcuffed.

Searching him incident to arrest one of the items we recovered was a 4" inch buck knife in his right front pants pocket. Also recovered from his person was a suicide note which described the clothes he wanted to be buried in and happen to closely match the description of the clothes he was wearing at the time of this incident.

After a quick search to make sure no other people were in the apartment the residence was secured. Detectives and Patrol Officers continued with the investigation speaking with some of the people that had been in the apartment, (many of the people we initially encountered had fled, including the male that was hiding in the back bedroom.

Layman was transported to the hospital and eventually to jail. He had no visible injuries but later at the hospital he complained of a sore neck and sore ribs.

On 10/22/14, at 1728 hours, Officer Iverson and I (double unit) were dispatched to assisted officers at a suspicious person call in the area of Oak and Pacific. Once on scene I was advised detectives had Robbery suspect, Joseph Layman, in custody.

Upon arrival, I spoke to, John Stewart, over the phone. He stated the following:

He was driving home, westbound on Pacific just before Oak, when he saw a white male "jostling" with a black male and then chasing the black male when he got away. He said it started on the north side of Pacific and when the black male got away he ran to the south side of Pacific and started running eastbound. He said he believes the white male tried grabbing the black male a second time but he again got away. He said it was speculation but it looked like the black male stole something and the white male was trying to get it back.

He described the white male as being in his thirties or forties, stalky build, balding, round face, and wearing plain clothes (possibly gray). He said the black male looked like he had longer black hair, possibly wearing a hat, thin, and was wearing brighter clothes.

John said he only saw about 7 seconds of the whole incident. He did

On the 22 Oct.2014 at approx. 1700hrs I assisted detectives with searching for an armed robbery suspect. Detective Turman advised patrol he had Probable Cause to arrest Joseph Layman for a count of 1st Degree Robbery and 2nd Degree Robbery. Layman had robbed two coffee businesses in the last few days. Layman had displayed a handgun in one robbery.

Sgt. Preuninger advised they were attempting to meet Layman at Pacific/Cannon. I was staged in my fully marked patrol car at 4th/Maple. I heard officers advise they possibly had Layman at Pacific/Oak. Ofc. S. Lesser and I drove to 4th/Elm and staged closer at the car wash.

Minutes later I heard Sgt. Preuninger advise us to drive in to Pacific/Oak as they had him.

I arrived in the area and a citizen advised LE was chasing a male east on Pacific. I drove east until I observed detectives at 1630 W. Pacific #2. As I approached the front door I observed officers struggling with a black male on the back bed. I ran into the home and identified the black male as Layman. He had his left hand tucked towards his chest/waist and an officer had control of his right hand. I heard officers telling him to stop resisting and to release his hands. Layman did not cooperate.

Layman had committed armed robbery of a coffee stand days before this contact where he had displayed a hand gun. He was wanted on two robbery charges and had a felony warrant for 2nd Theft. Layman was in a back bedroom of a home with an unknown amount of persons and was resisting arrest on a bed. There were numerous knives, needles and a hammer on the bed next to Layman. He was also attempting to reach into his pants to grab an unknown weapon. Layman had already run from LE running into the above home and into a back bedroom. he continued to reach into his pants pocket and refuse commands.

I was able to grab his right wrist and place it behind his back. Layman continued pulling his arm and was able to slip away from me and shoved his right hand back towards his front pants pocket. I did deliver 4-6 knee strikes to his right torso. I was then able to again grab his right wrist and pull behind his back and place his right hand into handcuffs. He continued pulling away but after several more seconds were able to place both hands into handcuffs (DL).

Layman immediately laid down and pretended to go unconscious. I applied a sternum rub and he began talking to us. Medics were called and treated him. He stated he had wanted LE to shoot/kill him.

A search incident to arrest located an 4-6 inch knife in his front left pants pocket. There was also a vile of Marijuana and a handwritten note. The note appeared to be a suicide note and explained how "I am a fuck up" and apologized for what he had done. He also described what clothes he wanted to be buried in.

At Deaconess Hospital Layman complained his stomach and ribs hurt from when he "didn't listen to police." Xrays did not show any injuries. While at Deaconess Layman made several unsolicited statements. He said, "hey, all the bags and dope are mine in the house." He also said he had been staying at the above house for several days. He apologized for what he did and said he had never had a gun "during those," when he was talking about the robbery charges. He stated he had become addicted to Heroin and had done some bad things.

I booked Layman into the SCJ for one count of 1st Degree Robbery and one count of 2nd Degree Robbery. He was also booked on a Felony Warrant.

On 102214 at approximately 1728 hours Officer Kester and I assisted Sgt. Preuninger on a suspicious person call. Detectives had detained a male who was wanted for robbery.

I contacted a male outside of 1714 W. Pacific. The male was identified as Roger Petrie. I asked Petrie if had been a witness to anything or had been outside. Petrie advised he was driving his vehicle, about to pull to the side of the road and park just in front of his home at 1714 W. Pacific. He observed a subject standing on the North side of the street on the sidewalk, just in front of the location. Petrie could only describe the subject as either a black male or black female, stating the subject was very skinny which made him believe it was possibly a female.

Petrie stated he then saw another subject, a "big" white male, also on the North side of the sidewalk near 1714 W. Pacific. Petrie advised he wasn't sure if the W/M was a police officer or not because he was in normal clothing. This male appeared to have a gun out and drawn. Petrie believed he heard the W/M yell stop. The B/M or B/F subject began running Southbound across the street and the W/M followed him.

Petrie was unable to describe anything further or further detail.

PC for Armed Robbery on Layman. There is PC for Layman who robbed two downtown espresso stands late last week. During one of the robbery's Layman lifted his shirt and displayed the grip of a handgun tucked in his waistband. I received the above information by email prior to starting my shift. Layman also has an outstanding Felony Warrant for Theft 2nd with Extenuating Special Circumstances.

I staged with Ofc. Johnson near 4th/Maple waiting to be called up by detectives. We then moved closer to the Brown Bear Car wash on Sunset just to the South of Rosaurers. We were advised by Sgt. Preuninger to move up to Pacific/Oak to assist.

We arrived at Pacific/Oak but were unable to find the other officers. We were flagged down by several bystanders advising we needed to go further west to find the officers.

We arrived in front of 1630 W. Pacific #2 and were pointed to the location. I could see the front door to the location was open. I could hear yelling and a struggle in the back bedroom of the location. I arrived in the back bedroom and could see Layman was resisting arrest. I heard several times that he was told he was under arrest and to quit resisting. I heard officers say there were weapons all over the bed. I looked down and could see several knives with the blades exposed. I could also see a hammer on the bed within close proximity and a distance to where it could be accessed.

As I entered the room I could see a female in the corner of the room and behind the officers. I controlled the female and kept her in the corner of the room for the safety of the officers. Layman continued to resist and thrash around. I could see him manipulating his arms and trying to use mechanical resistance to keep them under his body. It appeared he was using his hands and fingertips underneath him to access or grab objects on the top of the bed. I grabbed and moved a hammer and several knives from the bed and placed them behind me and out of the way where he couldn't access them. I could not see under Layman to know what other objects/weapons were still on the bed. He continued to try to use his weight and resistance to try and move around the bed and keep his arms and hands under his body. He continued to refuse all verbal commands.

Officers were able to handcuff Layman and take him into custody.

I was contacted by a male in front of the residence. He identified himself as Kenneth Dickinson (08/02/67). He gave me a phone, papers, lighter etc. He advised the black male the police were contacting dropped the items in front of 1714 W. Pacific. I gave the items to Sgt. Preuninger.

I then contacted a female that was inside 1630 E. Pacific #2 when the altercation took place. She advised her name was Olivia R. Crosby (07/29/79). A check of Olivia showed her to not actually exist. She advised she did not have a phone number but could get messages at 406-499-2683. She advised her social security number was 517-95-2531 although the number did not come back to anyone. We were finally able to identify her as Arlee E. Larsen (01/05/82). We verified with facebook and by calling her mom. She was found in locally out of Montana and did not have any outstanding warrants. She told me the following:

"Charlie" and "Liz" let her stay at the residence since last night (1630 W. Pacific #2). She got back to the location 20 minutes prior to the police arriving. She just did laundry and came to the location.

She "saw the black kid perching on the ground." He told her, "The cops are coming, don't open the door." He then agreed to come out for the cops but then quickly decided not to. He was kneeling down from the police and attempting to hide from them. He had a backpack with him. She advised there was "5 million" officers but he just wouldn't come out.

"The officers told him several times he was under arrest and to stop but he just wouldn't listen. He was flailing his arms and legs and fighting officers. He was resisting arrest and wouldn't stop." She told me, "I was telling him to stop and pleading with him." She met him yesterday and he came by the house. She has not had any type of relationship with him. She told me there were knives and a hammer on the bed where he was fighting with police.

She stated, "He literally was fighting back, resisting to the tenth degree. Not even the kids in the group homes resist like that. I have never seen someone resist like that. It was very obvious he was under arrest, it was like the first thing the police said inside." She then told me, "I'm a law major, I have a tendency to listen to those things and it was obvious he was told he was under arrest."

She then told me, "They told him over and over he's under arrest. It is messed up he put us all in harms way, it was obvious they were police officers." She then asked me, "Was he resisting as hard as he looked like he was resisting?"

I asked her what belongings he had at the location. She advised he had a backpack which was the backpack left on the kitchen. She advised he may have some clothes as well.

I then spoke with Shannon Word who was also present for the altercation. She told me the following:

She has been living at the location for 1-2 months and it is her primary and only residence right now. She has her belongings at the location and also receives mail at the location. Lisa Fife and Charlie Fife allowed her to live at the location. She was inside the location and heard Layman state, "The cops are coming."

He started squatting in the kitchen to hide. She advised, "He was tripping and freaking out. He has done too much of some kind of drug." He just ran in the door and cops were everywhere outside. She told me, "The cops were just trying to restrain him, it was obvious it was the police."

He then ran back to the back bedroom. He does not live at the location and only has a backpack and some clothes at the location.

She opened the door and allowed police to come inside. She advised that Layman "scares her."

Police came inside and told him several times he was under arrest but "he was fighting them." She stated, "He wouldn't quit resisting. The police kept telling him to stop fighting but he wouldn't." She stated, "He fought with police for what seemed like forever."

I then responded to Deaconess Medical Center with Ofc. Johnson to assist with Medical Clearance for Layman.

POSSESSION OF A CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE

(3) Circumstances supporting probable cause:

DETECTIVE L. TOFSRUD can testify to the following:

- He is a commissioned law enforcement officer in the State of Washington.
- On ~~November 21~~^{October 21}, 2014 he was advised that detective Corey Turman was investigating a series of robberies that were occurring in the Spokane Washington area.
- Detective Turman later advised that he established follow cause to arrest defendant Joseph G Layman, a black male, date of birth December 1, 1985, 5'8" to 6 feet tall weighing between 160 and 190 pounds.
- He reviewed a statement investigating officer affidavit of facts outlining detective Turmans probable cause to arrest defendant Layman. The document also outlined witness statements relative to what Layman was wearing and what he had done.
- During the course of the robberies Defendant Layman was said to be riding a multicolored 10 speed style bicycle. Defendant Layman was also wearing a black backpack with a yellow carabiner attached to it. Defendant Layman was also wearing a gray sweatshirt, a striped beanie style cap and displayed what was believed to be a firearm.
- On ~~November 22~~^{October 22}, 2014 he utilized a number of different information sources.
- He learned that Layman was in the area of Pacific and Oak, in Spokane Washington.
- He utilized other members of Targeted Crimes Unit to set up surveillance.
- At approximately 1720 hrs. he observed defendant Layman on the north curb line sidewalk of West 1700 Pacific, Spokane Washington.
- He established verbal contact with defendant Layman, he identified himself as a police officer, and began giving verbal commands.
- The commands included telling defendant Layman to shows hands, to turn away from him, to not run, as well as others.
- Defendant Layman refused the commands and ran away.
- A short foot pursuit ensued, Layman ran into 1630 W. Pacific number two.
- While chasing Layman he (Tofsrud) saw him (Layman) reach into his clothing several times, and also saw him put something in his mouth. He could not identify what this was.
- A perimeter of the residence was established and he (Tofsrud) began giving commands to people inside the residence.
- The front door to the residence was opened by an unidentified white female.
- He could see defendant Layman standing inside the residence.
- He could also see several (6-10) people inside the residence.
- These observations were made within 1 to 2 minutes of Layman making entry into the residence.
- He and Sgt. Prueninger began yelling commands at Layman.
- Those commands again included show your hands, you're under arrest, come toward us, etc.

- Layman refused commands and began walking backwards away from detective Tofsrud and Sgt. Prueninger.
- Layman was now standing in the kitchen.
- There was a closed door directly behind where Layman was standing.
- He and Sgt. Prueninger began closing body space with Layman.
- They continued to give verbal commands while doing this.
- Layman continued to refuse to follow directives.
- Physical force had to be utilized to take Layman into custody.
- During the course of taking Layman into custody several edged weapons were found near him.
- Also during the course of taking Layman into custody a white male (unidentified) produced himself from under a bed,(the same bed the law enforcement and defendant Layman were fighting on) the subject was clearly hiding from police.
- Anticipating the application for and execution of a search warrant the residence was cleared.
- Law-enforcement utilized the least most intrusive means to accomplish this, the primary objective being to make the residence safe pending the preparation and application for a search warrant.
- During this cursory sweep several items were seen including edged weapons, drug paraphernalia, and syringes/needles possibly containing a controlled substance.
- These items were left in place pending application for and execution of a search warrant.
- He researched NCIC III and found that defendant Layman had been convicted of Assault 4th Degree Domestic Violence on 12/11/2008.
- Extended liberties are needed for law enforcement to continue their investigation into the crimes of Robbery First Degree, Possession of a Controlled Substance, and Unlawful Possession of a Firearm 2nd Degree.
